1. Do your research

You can join a public sector or government bank as a bank clerk, probationary officer (PO) or specialist officer (SO). Only Indian nationals can secure a job in government banks. Three institutes provide an opportunity to get a government bank job:

- The Institute of Banking Personnel Selection (IBPS)
- Reserve Bank of India (RBI)
- The State Bank of India (SBI)

Each of these institutes conducts its own examination and has different eligibility criteria.

2. Understand the education and qualifications required

The three institutes mentioned above have different eligibility criteria, including the age limit and educational qualifications needed to appear for their banking job entrance examinations. These are:

IBPS conducts a common entrance exam for job roles like PO, SO and clerical cadre in government banks and Group A and Group B assistant posts for Regional Rural Banks (RRBs). The eligibility criteria for different posts are:

Clerical cadre and Probationary Officer: Any candidate between the age of 20 and 30 years is eligible for these two roles. They should be qualified graduates in any discipline, have some basic computer knowledge and fluently speak, write and read the official language of the state for which they are applying.

Specialist Officers : Any candidate between the age of 20 and 30 years is eligible for this role, and the educational qualification required varies depending on the post you are applying for. As an SO, you can get hired as an IT officer, agricultural field officer, law officer, HR/personnel officer or marketing officer in any public sector bank.

Regional Rural Banks: The eligibility criteria for RRBs are the same as that of a PO. In addition, candidates can apply for office assistant posts, which are equivalent to clerical cadre posts in urban locations.

The SBI conducts a common written test mainly for the PO and bank clerk posts. Any candidate between the age of 20 and 30 years is eligible for the PO post, and the age limit for a bank clerk post is between 20 and 28 years. Also, candidates should have a graduation degree from an accredited university recognised by the central government of India. Students in the final year of their graduation are also eligible to apply.

RBI conducts a common written examination to select candidates for their Grade B officer posts. The candidates must have a graduation degree. The age limit for this post is between 21 and 30 years. However, candidates with MPhil can apply until 32 years of age, while those with PhD degrees can apply until 34 years of age.

3. Clear the written examination

To get a job in a government bank, you need to appear and clear one of the following written examinations:

- IBPS Clerk
- IBPS PO
- IBPS SO
- IBPSRRB
- SBI Clerk
- SBI PO
- SBI SO
- RBI Officer Grade B

Also, these exams have three phases: preliminary exam, mains exam and interview. Once you clear the preliminary exam, you are eligible to sit for the mains exam. It is essential to clear each phase of the examination to get a job in a bank. The list of selected candidates depends upon marks they secure in these three phases.

My advice to My lovely Juniors---

My advice for clearing any of the banking exams, study the topics like Reasoning abilities Quantitative aptitude, English, Computer knowledge and general awareness of economy.

The Certified Full Stack Developer Program designed and delivered by talent sprint enables students and young graduates to build interactive and responsive web applications using front-end and back-end technologies.

The program brings hands-on learning experience through self-paced learning with doubt-clearing sessions by TalentSprint Trainers, Hackathons, Projects, Master Mentors, and an exceptional Peer Group. It also provides Industry leading placement support and certification on completing the program.

The role of a Java full stack developer in a company is to develop and maintain software applications using the Java programming language. As a full stack developer, they are responsible for developing both the frontend and backend of the application. Here are some of the specific responsibilities of a Java full stack developer:

1. Developing and maintaining web applications using Java, HTML, CSS, and JavaScript.
2. Building RESTful APIs and integrating them with front-end interfaces.
3. Creating and maintaining databases and data models.
4. Ensuring the application is secure and scalable.
5. Collaborating with other team members, including designers, product managers, and quality assurance engineers.
6. Debugging and troubleshooting technical issues.
7. Staying up-to-date with new technologies and best practices in software development.

Overall, a Java full stack developer is responsible for creating high-quality, reliable, and user-friendly applications that meet the needs of the company and its users. They play a critical role in the success of software development projects and are often in high demand in today's tech industry.

Full-stack development refers to the development of both the front-end and back-end of a web application or website. A full stack is made up of the front-end that deals with the user interface, the back-end that deals with data validation, and the database that acts as storage—a repository of information from the front-end through the logic layer.

A Java Full Stack Developer program equips you with a robust skill set, making you a well-rounded professional capable of handling various aspects of software development. This program not only enhances your technical capabilities but also significantly increases your employability in the competitive IT job market.

My advice to My Juniors---

Make the best use of your stay at college and equip yourself with necessary programming and communication skills to growth into successful person and professional.
