ABOUT WORKSHOP

In a thesis, dissertation, academic journal article or other formal pieces of research, there are often details of how the researcher approached the study and the methods and techniques they used. If you're designing a research study, then it's helpful to understand what research methodology is and the selection of techniques and tools available to you. In this article, we explore what research methodology is, the types of research methodologies and the techniques and tools commonly used to collect and analyze data. Research methodology is a way of explaining how a researcher intends to carry out their research. It's a logical, systematic plan to resolve a research problem.

Dr. K. Jaya dev Reddy, KNR College Explaining about Research Methodology

A Five-Day Workshop on "Research Methodology" has been organized by the Department of MBA, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, 27-01-2021 to 01-02-2021. Dr. K. Jaya dev Reddy has discussed according to Somekh and Lewin (2005), a research methodology is both "the collection of methods or rules" you apply to your research, as well as the "principles, theories, and values" that support your research approach. Simply put, a research paper's methodology section must shed light on how you were able to collect or generate your research data and demonstrate how you analyze them (SHU Library, 2020).For novice researchers, writing the methodology of a research paper can be an overwhelming process, especially considering the intricate elements covered by this section (J. Ellis & Levy, 2009, p. 323). The goal of this article is to define what is research methodology, guide novice researchers in their research methodology writing, and to help them gain a clear understanding of a research methodology's structure.

A Five-day workshop on "Importance of IPR in Modern Global Economic Environment" has been organized by the Department ofMBA, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, from 07-01-2021 to 12-01-2021. Dr. Srilakshmi, has discussed the main purpose of intellectual property law is to encourage the creation of a wide variety of intellectual goods for consumers To achieve this, the law gives people and businesses property rights to the information and intellectual goods they create, usually for a limited period of time. Because they can then profit from them, this gives economic incentive for their creation The intangible nature of intellectual property presents difficulties when compared with traditional property like land or goods. Unlike traditional property, intellectual property is indivisible – an unlimited number of people can "consume" an intellectual good without it being depleted. Additionally, investments in intellectual goods suffer from problems of appropriation – while a landowner can surround their land with a robust fence and hire armed guards to protect it, a producer of information or an intellectual good can usually do very little to stop their first buyer from replicating it and selling it at a lower price. Balancing rights so that they are strong enough to encourage the creation of information and intellectual goods but not so strong that they prevent their wide use is the primary

Y. Pardhasaradhi, Brilliant College

Explaining about Research Methodology, Writing Practices, Language Soft Skills

A Five-day workshop on "Research Methodology, Writing Practices, Language Soft Skills" has been organized bythe Department of MBA, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, from 19-01-2021 to 23-01-2021. Y. Pardhasaradhi has discussed according to Somekh and Lewin (2005), a research methodology is both "the collection of methods or rules" you apply to your research,as well as the "principles, theories, and values" that support your research approach. Simply put, a research paper's methodology section must shed light on how you were able to collect or generate your research data and demonstrate how you analyze them (SHU Library, 2020).For novice researchers, writing the methodology of a research paper can be an overwhelming process, especially considering the intricate elements covered by this section (J.Ellis & Levy, 2009, p. 323). The goal of this article is to define what is research methodology,guide novice researchers in their research methodology writing, and to help them gain a clear understanding of a research methodology's structure.

ABOUT SEMINAR

Someone who creates and runs a business is called an entrepreneur. When an entrepreneur starts a new business, risk is involved. Risk is the chance of losing something. Entrepreneurship is the process of creating something different with value by devoting the necessary time and effort, assuming the accompanying financial, psychic, social risks and receiving the resulting rewards of monetary and personal satisfaction and independence. Because employees work for someone else and entrepreneurs work for themselves, entrepreneurs' risk more than employees. One way you can gain a sense of what business is like is by investigating an internship, or apprenticeship

K.Swapna, Annamacharya College Explaining about Entrepreneurship Skills

A One-day Webinar on "Entrepreneurship Skills" has been organized by the Department of MBA, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, on 25-03-2021. K.Swapna has discussed An entrepreneur refers to someone who builds or operates their own business. By having an equity stake in the firm, the entrepreneur can enjoy a great deal of profit if things go well; but they also take on a great deal of risk— far more than a regular employee of the business. This entrepreneurial risk can take several forms, including financial risk, career risk, emotional risk, or overall business risk. Since there is so much at stake when it comes to starting and growing a successful business, there are very specific skills that an entrepreneur usually needs to be successful. Below, we highlight five such attributes.

ABOUT SEMINAR

The solar energy industry are constantly searching for new ways to improve the efficiency of solar panels. Earlier, solar photovoltaics (PV) were considered the future of solar cells. But today, with greater developments made in solar PV technology trend. By the term "solar panels", the first thing that appears to one's mind is the image of rooftop solar cells. And this is for a good reason. Until today, these traditional rooftop solar panels have dominated the solar industry on a large scale. But this year, we have some impressive solar panel technologies that promise a brighter future for any solar PV system.

A One-day Seminar on "Recent trends in Solar Technology" has been organized by the Department of EEE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, on 15-10-2020. Dr Gireesh kumar has discussed Solar power is the conversion of energy from sunlight into electricity, either directly using photovoltaics (PV) or indirectly using concentrated solar power. Photovoltaic cells convert light into an electric current using the photovoltaic effect. Concentrated solar power systems use lenses or mirrors and solar tracking systems to focus a large area of sunlight to a hot spot, often to drive a steam turbine. Photovoltaics were initially solely used as a source of electricity for small and medium-sized applications, from the calculator powered by a single solar cell to remote homes powered by an off-grid rooftop PV system. Commercial concentrated solar power plants were first developed in the 1980s. Since then, as the cost of solar electricity has fallen, grid-connected solar PV systems' capacity and production have grown more or less exponentially, doubling about every three years.

ABOUT SEMINAR

Electric vehicles have enormous future potential. The charging station is the obvious starting point for these vehicles. However, this is only the first step in a potentially long journey that will include charging banks and other industrial areas, as well as homes and cities. . Electric vehicle technology has existed in labs such as NASA since the 1970s. In a few years, current technology will undoubtedly be far more advanced. EVs are even expected to power themselves by harvesting energy from their surroundings. Such vehicles will require little maintenance and may even be powered by renewable energy sources such as wind. It will also be interesting to see the impact of EU and US regulations that will go into effect.

Dr Ranga raju, BVRIT Explaining about Future Scope of Electric Vehicles

A One-day Seminar on "Future Scope of Electric Vehicles" has been organized by the Department of EEE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, on 15-10-2020. Dr Ranga raju has discussed arly electric vehicles first came into existence in the late 19th century, when the Second Industrial Revolution brought forth electrification. Using electricity was among the preferred methods for motor vehicle propulsion as it provides a level of quietness, comfort and ease of operation that could not be achieved by the gasoline engine cars of the time, but range anxiety due to the limited energy storage offered by contemporary battery technologies hindered any mass adoption of private electric vehicles throughout the 20th century. Internal combustion engines were the dominant propulsion mechanisms for cars and trucks for about 100 years, but electricity-powered locomotion remained commonplace in other vehicle types, such as overhead line-powered mass transit vehicles like electric trains, trams, monorails and trolley buses, as well as various small, low-speed battery-powered personal vehicles such as mobility scooters.

ABOUT WORKSHOP

Someone who creates and runs a business is called an entrepreneur. When an entrepreneur starts a new business, risk is involved. Risk is the chance of losing something.

Entrepreneurship is the process of creating something different with value by devoting the necessary time and effort, assuming the accompanying financial, psychic, social risks and receiving the resulting rewards of monetary and personal satisfaction and independence. Because employees work for someone else and entrepreneurs work for themselves, entrepreneurs risk more than employees. One way you can gain a sense of what business is like is by investigating an internship, or apprenticeship

A Five-day workshop on "Common Personality Traits of a Successful Entrepreneur" has been organized by the Department of MBA, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, from 01-12-2020 to 03-12-2020. K. Rakesh has discussed an entrepreneur is an individual who creates and/or invests in one or more businesses, bearing most of the risks and enjoying most of the rewards. The process of setting up a business is known as "entrepreneurship". The entrepreneur is commonly seen as an innovator, a source of new ideas, goods, services, and business/or procedures, launching and running a new business, which is often similar to a small business, or as the "capacity and willingness to develop, organize and manage a business venture along with any of its risks to make a profit. The people who create these businesses are often referred to as "entrepreneurs". While definitions of entrepreneurship typically focus on the launching and running of businesses, due to the high risks involved in launching a start-up, a significant proportion of start-up businesses have to close due to "lack of funding, bad business decisions, government policies, an economic crisis, a lack of market demand, or a combination.

ABOUT WORKSHOP

Entrepreneurial opportunities also depend on the institutional context. For instance, researchers have documented that changes in policy regime and changes in the law can have a dramatic impact on entrepreneurial opportunities. Entrepreneurial education and training is again directly proportional to growth and business creation. Surveys suggest that almost 20% of students, who participate in a mini-company programme in secondary school, later tend to start their own company, a figure that is about three to five times that for the general population Because employees work for someone else and entrepreneurs work for themselves, entrepreneurs risk more than employees.

Mr Venkat reddy, MREC Explaining about Major Drivers of Entrepreneurial Growth

A Five-day workshop on "Major Drivers of Entrepreneurial Growth" has been organized by the Department of CSE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, from 17-11-2020 to 21-11-2020. Mr Venkat reddy, MREC has discussed Entrepreneurship is the creation or extraction of economic value. With this definition, entrepreneurship is viewed as change, generally entailing risk beyond what is normally encountered in starting a business, which may include other values than simply economic ones. An entrepreneur is an individual who creates and/or invests in one or more businesses, bearing most of the risks and enjoying most of the rewards. The process of setting up a business is known as "entrepreneurship". The entrepreneur is commonly seen as an innovator, a source of new ideas, goods, services, and business/or procedures. Regardless of the firm size, big or small, it can take part in entrepreneurship opportunities. There are four criteria for becoming an entrepreneur.

ABOUT WORKSHOP

Entrepreneurship, or the activity of starting and running a business, is a vital ingredient of economic growth and development. Entrepreneurs contribute to innovation, and they are central to dynamic Schumpeterian competition and broader economic dynamism. In this paper, we contribute to the entrepreneurship literature by performing cross-section empirical analysis to examine the link between entrepreneurship and economic growth. We divide total early-stage entrepreneurship into opportunity-driven entrepreneurship versus necessity-driven entrepreneurship, and our sample economies into advanced economies versus developing economies.

Dr.Rajeswari has discussed An entrepreneur refers to someone who builds or operates their own business. By having an equity stake in the firm, the entrepreneur can enjoy a great deal of profit if things go well; but they also take on a great deal of risk— far more than a regular employee of the business. This entrepreneurial risk can take several forms, including financial risk, career risk, emotional risk, or overall business risk.Since there is so much at stake when it comes to starting and growing a successful business, there are veryspecific skills that an entrepreneur usually needs to be successful. Below, we highlight five such attributes.

ABOUT SEMINAR

Machine learning is an important component of the growing field of data science. Through the use of statistical methods, algorithms are trained to make classifications or predictions, and to uncover key insights in data mining projects. These insights subsequently drive decision making within applications and businesses, ideally impacting key growth metrics. As big data continues to expand and grow, the market demand for data scientists will increase. They will be required to help identify the most relevant business questions and the data to answer them. Machine learning algorithms are typically created using frameworks that accelerate solution development, such as TensorFlow and PyTorch.

K. Naresh, PKR College Explaining about Machine Learning

A One-day workshop on "Machine Learning" has been organized by the Department of CSE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, on 05-10-2020. K. Naresh, PKR College has discussed Machine learning (ML) is an umbrella term for solving problems for which development of algorithms by human programmers would be cost-prohibitive, and instead the problems are solved by helping machines "discover" their "own" algorithms, without needing to be explicitly told what to do by any human-developed algorithms. Recently, generative artificial neural networks have been able to surpass results of many previous approaches. Machine-learning approaches have been applied to large language modelswhere it is too costly to develop algorithms to perform the needed tasks. The mathematical foundations of ML are provided by mathematical optimization (mathematical programming) methods. Data mining is a related (parallel) field of study, focusing on exploratory data analysis through unsupervised learning. ML is known in its application across business problems under the name predictive analytics. Although not all machine learning is statistically based, computational statistics is an important source of the field's methods.

ABOUT SEMINAR

A data warehouse is where data can be collected for mining purposes, usually with large storage capacity. Various organizations' systems are in the data warehouse, where it can be fetched as per usage. Data warehouses collaborate data from several sources and ensure data accuracy, quality, and consistency. System execution is boosted by differentiating the process of analytics from traditional databases. In a data warehouse, data is sorted into a formatted pattern by type and as needed. The data is examined by query tools using several patterns. Data warehouses store historical data and handle requests faster, helping in online analytical processing.

Webinar on Data ware Housing & Data Minning (DWDM)

Details of the Resource Person: Dr.B. Rajesh, PKR College

Dr. B. Rajesh, Explaining about Data ware Housing & Data Minning (DWDM)

A One-day Seminar on "Data ware Housing & Data Minning (DWDM)" has been organized by the Department of CSE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, on 05-10-2020. Dr. B. Rajesh, PKR College has discussed system used for reporting and data analysis and is considered a core component of business intelligence. Data warehouses are central repositories of integrated data from one or more disparate sources. This is beneficial for companies as it enables them to interrogate and draw insights from their data and make decisions. The data stored in the warehouse is uploaded from the operational systems (such as marketing or sales). The data may pass through an operational data store and may require data cleansing for additional operations to ensure data quality before it is used in the data warehouse for reporting. Extract, transform, load (ETL) and extract, load, transform (ELT) are the two main approaches used to build a data warehouse system.

Explaining about E-Resources for Teaching & Learning in Association with IQAC

A Two-day workshop on "E-Resources for Teaching & Learning in Association with IQAC" has been organized by the Department of MBA, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, from 12-08-2020 to 13-08-2020. Dr. Raja Reddy has discussed Open educational resources (OER) are part of a "range of processes" employed by researchers and educators to broaden access to scholarly and creative conversations. Although working definitions of the term OER may vary on the context of their use, the 2019 definition provided by UNESCO provides shared language useful for shaping an understanding of the characteristics of OER. The 2019 UNESCO definition describes OER as "teaching, learning and research materials that make use of appropriate tools, such as open licensing, to permit their free reuse, continuous improvement and repurposing by others for educational purposes."

ABOUT SEMINAR

Digital adoption ensures you get the most out of your technology investments. If customers use only part of your product, they don't see its full value. Similarly, if employees use only bits and pieces of the software you purchase, your company will not see the improvements you intended. Digital adoption drives organizational change by empowering individual end-users – both employees and customers – to become expert technology users and embrace new digital processes and tools with contextual onboarding, training, and performance support. The longer companies remain in business, the more apps they use, resulting in poor software license management – among other IT and technology-related challenges.

Explaining about Planning Effective Digital Adoption for Online Learning

A One-day Seminar on "Planning Effective Digital Adoption for Online Learning" has been organized by the Department of CSE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, on 25-07-2020. Dr. Ravinder reddy, has discussed Online learning involves courses offered by primary institutions that are 100% virtual. Online learning, or virtual classes offered over the internet, is contrasted with traditional courses taken in a brick-and-mortar school building. It is a development in distance education. The learner experience is typically asynchronous but may also incorporate synchronous elements. The vast majority of institutions utilize a learning management system for the administration of online courses. As theories of distance education evolve, digital technologies to support learning and pedagogy continue to transform as well. It is a development in distance education that expanded in the 1990s with the spread of the commercial Internet and the World Wide Web.

ABOUT WORKSHOP

Machine learning is an important component of the growing field of data science. Through the use of statistical methods, algorithms are trained to make classifications or predictions, and to uncover key insights in data mining projects. These insights subsequently drive decision making within applications and businesses, ideally impacting key growth metrics. As big data continues to expand and grow, the market demand for data scientists will increase. They will be required to help identify the most relevant business questions and the data to answer them. Machine learning algorithms are typically created using frameworks that accelerate solution development, such as TensorFlow and PyTorch.

Mr. Santhosh, boji reddy for womens Explaining about Beginning with Machine Learning

A Five-day worksh op on "Beginning with Machine Learning" has been organized by the Department of CSE, Avanthi Institute of Engineering and Technology, Guntapally, from 01-07-2020 to 02-07-2020. Mr. Santhosh, has discussed Machine learning (ML) is an umbrella term for solving problems for which development of algorithms by human programmers would be cost-prohibitive, and instead the problems are solved by helping machines "discover" their "own" algorithms, without needing to be explicitly told what to do by any human-developed algorithms. Recently, generative artificial neural networks have been able to surpass results of many previous approaches. Machine-learning approaches have been applied to large language, algorithms to perform the needed tasks. The mathematical foundations of ML are provided by mathematical optimization (mathematical programming) methods. Data mining is a related (parallel) field of study, focusing on exploratory data analysis through unsupervised learning.

ABOUT SEMINAR

portfolio managers should carefully select and combine financial products on behalf of their clients for guaranteed maximum returns with minimum risks. Portfolio theory helps portfolio managers to calculate the amount of return as well as risk for any investment portfolio. The process of addition of more assets in an existing portfolio or changing the ratio of funds invested is called as portfolio revision. The sale and purchase of assets in an existing portfolio over a certain period of time to maximize returns and minimize risk is called as Portfolio revision. Portfolio analysis begins where security analysis ends. Portfolio refers to invest in a group of securities rather to invest in a single security.
